

TE STYLE SHEET

SPRING CHICKENS

The Upright Chicken

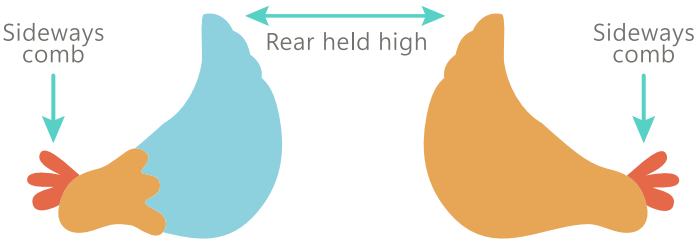

Native to: Barnyards, fast food restaurants, the other side of roads.

Identifiable by their U-shaped bodies and their top-positioned combs, these chickens are most likely to break into elaborate song and dance numbers and compliment your hair-do

Upright chickens always keep their eyes open.

The Bottoms Up Chicken

Native to: Hen houses, childrens cartoons, kitchen decor.

Identifiable by their sideways combs and their high-reaching behinds, these chickens are most likely to throw raucous tea parties and lend you their clothes.

Bottoms Up chickens always keep their eyes closed.

DID YOU KNOW

Chickens always align their faces with their comb flourishes.

Chickens blush just below their eyes when complimented.

Chickens are world famous sprint runners, which is why their legs are always positioned UNDERNEATH their bodies.
